Leading Adult Content Producer Mile High Media & Dynamic Female-Focused Website BelleSA.co Partner to Produce and Deliver Original Female Empowered Porn

MONTREAL, Quebec (Oct. 18, 2017) – Adult industry powerhouse Mile High Media and female-focused web startup BelleSA.co have partnered to create female empowered erotica studio, BelleSA Productions. The premium platform will offer original, female-friendly erotic content to adults visiting the site.

BelleSA is seeking their online communities direct input for BelleSA Productions' content, promising to make their fantasies a reality. Users are invited to submit their desires to fantasy@belleSA.co.

"We believe this is an ideal marriage. An industry stalwart with a track record of producing some of the finest adult content meets a young, up-and-comer with their sights set on building the next major online community for women," says BelleSA founder and CEO, Michelle Shnaidman. "We are going to be fueling the Mile High Media engine with the ideas and desires of BelleSA's community to create a product that is truly special in how it addresses the female market."

The new allies are a natural fit, bringing together Mile High Media's years of respected experience creating ethical porn for women with BelleSA's innovative approach to connecting women online with a safe space to celebrate their sexuality.

Mile High Media's Vice President Jon Blitt comments on the partnership saying, "When we met with Michelle and the BelleSA team we realized quickly the company's mission to create a female led site to empower women was genuine, and it was evident they wanted to do things ethically. Our partnership was very organic. Mile High is happy to offer our years of experience in quality content production to their dynamic site. The new alliance puts action to words, confirming both our companies are focused on empowering women to enjoy porn, while ensuring it's done strategically, utilizing our combined strengths."

In addition to creating original content through their partnership, Mile High Media and BelleSA will also be working together to deliver accessible, licensed content to BelleSA's community. The partnership seeks to build lasting, mutually beneficial relationships with all content producers that are interested in working with Bellesa, large and small.

With the re-launch of Bellesa's adult content platform, the site is committed to sending traffic back to the licensed content suppliers, encouraging sign-ups at the source and taking 0% referral for 6 months.

"Bellesa's mission is to provide women with a safe space to celebrate their sexuality. By providing visitors to our site with access to some of the best content available online, and by channeling our traffic to these brilliant content creators to grow their businesses with no strings attached — we believe we are fulfilling our mission in its purest form. We would like to give a massive thank you to Mile High Media for championing this mission by our sides," said Bellesa founder and CEO, Michelle Shnaidman.

Shnaidman continues, "To the Mile High Media family, we truly couldn't ask for a better partner to realize our goals. We are excited to take our next steps together. What ground we are able to break in terms of bringing high quality video content to the female demographic will be owed to you. To new beginnings."
